

What difficulties can arise when doing a Parish Plan?

- Consultation overload. There are currently so many questionnaires and consultation documents. You may need to avoid going over the same ground twice which will mean that the results have to be drawn from several different surveys.
- There is so much information available, especially on websites, that a great deal of time is required.
- The production of a Plan needs the dedication of a small group of people.
- It is easy to have meetings and talking shops, but someone needs to put it all down on paper in an accessible format that can be used for the future and not just put away on a shelf.
